

CONTENTS

Preface	xvi
Abbreviations	xvii
List of Plates and Illustrations	xix

Introduction: Sinews of Power and Empires of the Imagination	1
Abu Taleb in London, 1800	1
Concepts and Arguments	11
Themes: Politicisation, Commemoration, Collecting	20
Prelude. London, Autumn 1761: The King Shall Rejoice	23

PART I

WAR, ART, AND COMMEMORATION (c.1750–1815)

AMERICA

Nationalising a Site of Memory	40
A Civil and a Global War	45
1. The Art of Remembering and Forgetting	48

Melted Majesty	49
Compensatory Triumphalism	57
Undaunted Briton or Sentimental Spy?	60
Damage Control	67
Private Grief and Pride	71
‘There will scarcely be a village in England without some American dust in it’	75
Conclusions	81
2. Transatlantic Journeys	83
Janus-Faced Patriots: Benjamin West and John Singleton Copley	85
Pragmatic Loyalists? Ralph Earl and Mather Brown	97
British Radicals: James Barry and Robert Edge Pine	100
‘The peaceful muse outweighs political warfare’: Charles Willson Peale	104
‘To his country he gave his sword and his pencil’: John Trumbull	109
Conclusions	115
Interlude. London, Spring and Summer 1784	117
BRITAIN, EUROPE, EMPIRE	131
3. ‘Pretensions to Permanency’	132
A Temple of British Fame	132
The Politics of Glory	144
Partisan Immortality	147
Who’s Allowed to be a Hero?	151
4. Modern Heroes	162
Naked Captains	163
Bodily Sacrifice	169
Christian Warriors	172
Codes of Masculinity	178
‘The conquering hero comes – Dead! Dead!’	183
Coda: Imperial Sites of Memory	188

PART II
EMPIRE, ARCHAEOLOGY, AND COLLECTING (c.1760–c.1850)

THE MEDITERRANEAN AND THE NEAR EAST	205
Public–Private Partnerships	207
5. The Spoils of War	219
‘Memorable Trophies of National Glory’	219
‘Collecting-furor’	223
‘Friends of Greece’	227
Spoliation or Preservation?	231
6. Antique Diplomacy	243
Triumph at Xanthus	243
The Lion of Nineveh	252
The Wonders of the World	265
Conclusions	269
INDIA	273
Empire, Culture, Knowledge	274
The Outward Appearance of Power	276
Indomania and Orientalism	283
7. Antiquities of India	288
Learned Officialdom and the Analogy of Science	294
Picturesque Patriotism	300
Closet Archaeologists and Pioneers in the Field	306
8. Surveying the Empire	315
The Great Mysore Survey of 1799–1809	316
The Java Expedition of 1811–16	324
Research Management	328
Guiltless or Ruthless Spoliation?	330
Outlook: The Responsibilities of Empire (c.1844–1900)	342

PART III
CAPITAL OF CULTURE (1815–c.1850)

9. Pomp and Circumstance in London	353
Victory and Dynasty	355
The English Titian	359
London Triumphant	361
Art for the Nation	372
Conclusions: Cultural Politics, State, War, and Empire	380
Epilogue: Empires Imagined at the Great Exhibition	386
Notes	395
Index	000