

Introduction	1
The Royal Academy and the politics of culture	3
The transformation of artistic culture in Britain's long eighteenth century	5
Of the history of the Royal Academy in the eighteenth century not much need be said	9
How the argument unfolds	10
ACADEMIES OF ART	15
Institutional history	19
Promoting a national school	52
Private views	215
Turtle and champagne	216
Somerset House 23 April 1796	221
FORGING THE CULTURAL STATE	223
A year in the life of Joseph Farington RA	225
The British state the arts and the Royal Academy	226
Professional Representations	235
Formulating and implementing policy customs duties	240
Exhibitions	62
The Royal Academy and the English School	67
Modelling Academies for the British School	80
Provincial England with an American digression	86
Scotland and Ireland	96
Conclusions	104
The cosmopolitan outlook of a national academy	109
THE POLITICIZATION OF ART	125
Somerset House 23 April 1796	127
Art and politics	128
George III and the artists	136
Courtiers party politicians and regicides	145
French Revolutions in the Royal Academy?	180
The spectacle of exhibitions	203
Improper persons	206
Taxation	245
Copyright	248
Professional artists	251
Monumental Miracles	253
National monuments	257
A Dome of National Glory	276
The Elgin Marbles	285
A London Parthenon	295
Conclusion	299
The unreformed Academy in the Age of Reform	300
The Royal Academy and the politics of British culture	306
Select Bibliography	308
Index	355